

Blog	Purpose	Audience	Structure	Interactivity -Who is interacting with the blog? -How are the interacting?
1. http://www.buuklvr81.blogspot.com/	To share thoughts/critiques on books read; the blog also provides book suggestions to readers who like a certain book or genre	The blog appears to be geared toward adults	Blogger posts an introduction to her new read with a short about the author section; an excerpt from the read; a book review; and then lists book suggestions.	It appears the author reviewed sometimes comments as do others who read the book and have a comment to make and/or want to read the book.
2. http://www.trumpuniversity.com/blog/index.cfm	To provide you with Donald Trump's personal anecdotes, his business (and other) advice , and anything else he thinks of	Adults, business owners, Trump fans	This is a more random blog – blogs can be on every topic.	Trump's posts received lots of comments. Some commentators post simply in agreement or share their own stories, while some take the opportunity to critique Trump's thoughts and personal actions.
3. http://itc.blogs.com/minds/	To bridge student literacy in and out of the classroom; encourage student use of technology	Teachers, students, parents and community members	This blog includes discussions on conversations from class, podcasts, and links to student blogs. It also showcases student work.	Although there are few comments, the ones that exist offer links to more resources and/or establish positive communication with the blogger.